"RESOLUTION" ON THE MORMONS.

Missouri Troubles-Danites and Mountain Meadows Massacre-Wonder What He'll Do Next?

Burning of a Theatre.

New York, December 23.—Harrigan & Hart's theatre, Broadway, opposite the New York Hotel, was destroyed by fire this morning. The theatre cost $100,000. No insurance on the building or contents. The books and money belonging to the Actors' Fund Association in the safe in their rooms on the second floor are supposed to have been totally destroyed. The safe in the been totally destroyed. The theatre contained, besides the books of the establishment, $2,000 in money and the manuscript of $2,000 in Harrigan's plays. The theatre was in the Colonnade Hotel was for a moment in flames. Waiters had gone through the theatre and aroused the guests. Many of the latter became terrified and ran down stairs in their night clothes. The proprietor succeeded in quieting the theatre for a while. The interior decorations of the theatre cost $30,000, and the scenery for the Major which was the opening play of the new house, cost $5,000. Since that time the scenery of ten plays has been added, which increased the value of the stage settings to $75,000. Besides this, the mountings for Harrigan's new play, McAllister's Legacy, which cost $10,000, was in the house. Everything ran out a short time ago, and in the press of business its renewal had been neglected. The total loss by the fire will be about $200,000.

Anti-Mormon "Resolving."

Chicago, December 23.—A meeting was held here to-night, to give expression to the sentiment of the city on the subject of Mormonism. Ex-Senator J. R. Boettcher presided. In opening the meeting he reviewed the history of Mormonism, touching upon the Missouri troubles, the Danites and the Mountain Meadows Massacre. Reverend Mr. McNiece, of Utah, said the Mormons claim the balance of power in Idaho and Arizona, and that in Utah the Gentiles are practically disfranchised. Resolutions were passed calling on Congress to pass the anti-Mormon bill, introduced by Senator Cullum.

A Cleveland Reception.

AGASSY, N. Y., December 23.—At the reception of Governor Cleveland today, all the counties of the State were represented. The time designated for the reception was between 9 and 12 o'clock, but the guests were in the main late in arriving. After the reception and collation, the President-elect received many congratulations. It was long after midnight before the last of the guests took their departure.

Cold Wave.

CHICAGO, Wyo., December 23.—Leader specials from all over the Territory indicate the present first real cold wave of the season. At Fort McKinney, in the midst of a cattle regime, the thermometer is 25 degrees below zero, and snowing hard. The cattle are well prepared for the storm and the damage so far is slight, if any. The indications are that the weather is moderating.

Organized Nihilists.

St. Petersburg, December 23.—The Nova Vremya alleges the complete organization of Russian Nihilists, under the guise of an export firm, within the precincts of the city of London, and is exporting to Russia criminal documents and explosives.

Destructive Fire.

TAOR, N. Y., December 23.—Cambridge, Washington Co., was visited by a great conflagration this morning. Four large business blocks were completely destroyed. It is probable the loss is between $150,000 and $200,000. Estimated insurance between $50,000 and $75,000.

Aldermen Enjoined.

New York, December 23.—The board of aldermen was served to-day with an injunction from the court, restraining the board from passing any acts as aldermen until Friday, December 26th. This injunction was obtained by the "wolf" board of aldermen, to prevent the consideration of nominations.

The New Cable Working.

New York, December 23.—The Mackay-Bennett commercial cables were opened to the public at midnight at the offices of the Commercial Company.

Quick Work.

TOMONTO, Ont., December 23.—Charles Murray, the Californian who fired two shots from a revolver at John W. Bunting, a medical student, during a dispute over a game of billiards, in a saloon ten days ago, was to-day sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

"Rough on Itch."

"Rough on Itch" cures humors, eruptions, ringworm, tetter, salt rheum, frost-bites, chilblains.

No trouble to show goods at Eliason's, 122 Main Street.

See Joslin & Park's advertisement of what to buy for a Christmas or New Year presents.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, December 23.—Jonas presented a memorial of the joint commercial association of New Orleans, protesting against the ratification of the Spanish treaty.

Vest submitted a concurrent resolution, providing that Congressional speeches shall be printed as delivered, with the exception of verbal amendments, and when speeches are withheld from revision for more than one week the speech shall be printed as delivered.

He called up the naval appropriation bill as reported yesterday by him from the committee on appropriations, and it passed.

The Senate, in secret session, amended the House resolutions providing for a holiday recess, substituting the 21st for the 20th, as the date when the recess should begin.

An Wyck moved to make the special order for January 9th next, to bill heretofore reported from the judiciary committee, declining to subject to State tax lands granted; to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean, and to which land the companies were to become entitled upon the payment of the cost of surveying. Agreed to.

Executive session; adjourned.

Cruel, Murderous Robbers.

WHEELING, W. Va., December 23.—The second horrible outrage and robbery by hooded burglars in the past three days has greatly excited the people of this city.

On Sunday, six masked men entered the home of Mrs. Workman, in the east part of the city, and after horribly beating the family, stole about $5,000 in gold. Last night four men, evidently of the same gang, broke into the house of Elijah Marling, a bachelor tailor, and finding only $182 on his person, put him to the most terrible torture, to force him to reveal the hiding place of his gold. He was tied to the bedpost, stripped, and a red-hot poker applied to his back and thighs in no less than twenty places. Hot oil was also poured down his back, and his sufferings were terrible in the extreme. He evidently had no money concealed in their anger at their failure, the burglars struck him a heavy blow on the head and left him hanging insensible in his fastenings. He was found six hours later, nearly frozen and half dead, and his condition is dangerous. He is nearly 60 years of age. The robbers work with seeming impunity, and all efforts to locate or capture them seem useless. The country constabulary is powerless, and dwellers in isolated houses are in constant dread.

Heavy Snow in Colorado.

DENVER, Col., December 23.—Reports from the mountains show that the snowstorm which has been in progress for several days still continues, thus far without unusual or serious results. The storm is most severe in the Blue and East River countries, where the snow is several feet deep and drifting. The mountain roads are considerably blocked. It will probably be two or three days before the Salt Lake train will be able to make Marshall Pass. The weather in the mountains is warm. There are indications that the storm will soon break.

He Suicided.

VIENNA, December 23.—Jean Lucas, manager of the securities department of the Giro and Cassen-verein bank, died to-day, from self-inflicted injuries. He left letters stating that he had been ruined in house speculation and had embezzled 90,000 florins ($45,000).

The Oregon Snow Blockade.

PORTLAND, Oregon, December 23.—The snow has ceased. Snow-plows succeeded in moving to-day. Should there be no additional snow fall, the blockade on the Northern Pacific will be broken on Thursday afternoon.

Anarchism.

PARIS, December 23.—It is reported that government searched the barracks and found evidence of Anarchism spreading among the soldiers.

THE STOCK INTEREST.

The View Taken of the Organizations in Cache.

Something must be done by our farmers besides raising wheat, or times with them will grow worse instead of better. This is coming to be generally realized among them, and very many are turning their attention to raising live stock. As an impetus to this industry we earnestly recommend a thorough organization of all engaged in it in every settlement. By this means mutual interests are guarded and fostered and mutual protection is secured. The work started in this county a short time ago by H. J. Faust, Esq., who organized a stockmen's association in Logan, is commendable for many reasons, and should by all means be rapidly spread until the whole of this and adjacent Territories and States are covered with organizations, all devoted to the interests of the wealth producing industry of stock raising.

We understand that certain gentlemen of this county contemplate making a complete tour of it, effecting a local organization in each town. We hope that such a programme, if attempted to be carried out, will meet with a hearty response from our stock raisers, large and small. By means of organization protection against thieves is secured, the best breeds are introduced more rapidly, and better prices are secured. In addition to these, other advantages might be named as the results of having stock men properly organized. —Utah Journal.

LA TRAVIATA.

A Brilliant Society and Musical Event at the Theatre Last Night.

A tremendous audience, and one that rendered the atmosphere suffocating and the aisles impassable greeted the Abbott company on the second night of their engagement; the crush extended from the orchestra up to the doors, and chairs were at a premium before the first bell rang; the assemblage included the leading society people of the city, but the dressing of the audience was no ultra fashionable usually drawn out by the opera; everything was brilliant and expectant, however, and, barring the extreme heat, comfortable. The wonderful beauties of Verdi's great Traviata have hitherto only been known to us by what we could gather from the stray selections found in song folios and exercise books. To many Salt Lake admirers of the great master in modern opera, Verdi was only the author of Traviata—beyond that he was almost unknown; but last night's rendition shows us that which he has done besides to entitle him to the position he holds in the world of song, and that which places him in the rank above that of Donizetti, a position which one of the worshippers of Lucia have been loath to accord him.

One's liking for hard working, honest Emma Abbott, materially deepens after having seen her in a role like that of Violetta. We have never been willing to accord her the possession of a marvelous vocal organ, but the marvelous cultivation she has given it, no one can for a moment deny. Give her trills, shakes, staccatos, the most intricate vocal gymnastics, and she comes smiling from the ordeal; but give her an impassioned burst, where volume is required, and her shortcomings are evident. She rose nearer to positive grandeur than we ever before saw her, at the end of the first act last night. The curtain went up in response to the enthusiastic applause, and the artist bowed again and again her acknowledgments from the stage; but she was frequently repeated, and the applause was most generous for her acting throughout; her dressing was magnificent in the extreme.

Tagliapietra made his bow once more to his Salt Lake friends in the character of Germont; the applause that went up on his appearance told him of the estimation in which he was held, and in his subsequent singing and acting he succeeded in rousing the enthusiasm to a pitch which no other artist of the night in any way approached; the fire, the magnetism, the tenderness and soul which that man can throw into his voice at will, no one can understand who has experienced the illusion of which he was again and again thunderously applauded and his great number, "In Fair Provence," he sang entirely in Italian, must remain as the sweetest and most soul-stirring of efforts that were ever given from the Salt Lake boards. He only sings once more, and that in the "Bohemian Girl," when he gives Arden in English.

Castle was the tenor of the night. In his piano passages the voice of years ago still floats out in silver melody, but when he is "working up," the hand of time discloses itself. He remains so entirely the artist in everyone of his stage methods, however, that one looks at him and forgets his defects. Broderick showed a well rounded bass voice as the doctor. Miss Greenwood played the maid extremely well, and the balance of the cast was uniformly of excellence. The chorus was brilliantly effective, and in the grand finale to Act III told out with splendid force and expression.

Tomaso again showed the school in which he has been trained in his fine management of the orchestra. The overture was delicately done, and the achievements of the flute and clarinet should be specially mentioned. To-night Mignon will be given with the following excellent cast, Bellini making her first appearance.

MR. BLANDIN'S HEROINE.

Mrs. Turner in Court Twice in One day; a Good Samaritan.

Mrs. Turner and Mary Crowther, who have figured a good deal in Police Court annals recently, were again brought up yesterday on the charge of having defrauded Mrs. Harris, a store keeper in the Eighteenth Ward, out of goods to the amount of $10.50; the light-fingered ladies were due in Court on this charge on Monday. Mr. A. J. White having become sureties for their appearance. Mr. Blandin, becoming somewhat alarmed at the absence of his fair clients, rushed about in search of them, and yesterday triumphantly produced them in court. He thereupon withdrew from their bond instantly. Mr. White having proffered payment of the amount on which the complaint was made, together with costs, Judge Speers deemed it best for the loser to compromise on that score, as Mrs. Harris could ill afford to bear the loss. Mrs. Turner was at once arrested on the charge of stealing a doll, a search warrant for which had been issued, and the article found upon the lady's back. Mr. White again came forward in the character of the good Samaritan, and by the restoration of the dollman by the lady, and the payment of costs by the gentleman, the charge was also withdrawn on that count. What to-day may bring forth there is no knowing.

Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, December 23.—W. B. Thompson, late superintendent of the railway mail service, was to-day confirmed second assistant postmaster-general. He will be succeeded as superintendent of the railway mail service by John Jamison, present assistant superintendent.

MINING REPORTS.

A Few Brief Showings of Last Year's Work.

A short time ago we published a brief list of mines in several of the districts of Utah, which had been forwarded to Dr. Brede Meyer to be incorporated in his report to the authorities who are collating mining statistics in Washington. Since then, the Doctor has received reports from several other localities, and the following are condensations from a number of them.

In the Tintic mining district, there are nineteen producing mines, five only of which had been worked the whole year up to November 30th, 1884, yielding a total of 45,000 tons of ore. The five which have been worked from January 1st to November 30th, 1884, and their outputs, are the Eureka Hill, 14,811 tons; Beck, Bullion and Champion, 6,160 tons; Black Dragon Extension, 22,385 tons; Park, 65 tons; Northern Spy Consolidated, 630 tons. The number of men employed in all the producing properties is 237; the greatest numbers being at the Eureka Hill, 100; Beck, Bullion and Champion, 50; Mammoth Copperopolis, 10; Black Dragon Extension, 20; Northern Spy Consolidated, 12; and Carlin 18. The character of the ores is silver, silver-lead, copper and iron, with a little gold. There are mines of great merit in this district, which have not been worked the past year, twenty-three in number, among which are the familiar names of the Crispin Mammoth, Red Bird, Key-stone Crown Point, Golden Treasure, Joe Bowers, Rising Sun, North Star, Black Jack, Sunbeam, Brooklyn, Black Dragon, etc., the first one of which has been idle on account of litigation, and the rest have been prospecting and developing.

Separate reports from single mines have been forwarded, among them, one from the Silver Mountain mine, the development of which consists of shafts, inclines and tunnels aggregating 1,858 feet. The ore production to date has been 1,168 tons, averaging in value $38.50 per ton.

The City Rocks group, in Little Cottonwood, this is a fissure vein, in limestone; the ore is silver-lead; average value of ore, 35 per cent. lead and 45 ounces silver. The work for 1884 was pining the city on one of his periodical visits yesterday.

The Spanish mine, in American Fork district, has been extracting 300 tons per month, of an assay value of 45.55 per cent. lead, 20 ounces silver and 3.8 ounces gold. Twenty men have been engaged every day. The character of the ore is carbonates and sulphates.

Of the reports from the coal regions the Pleasant Valley Coal Company's statement is furnished, which gives the capacity of the Winter Quarters mine, with three openings, at 1,000 tons daily; that of the Mud Creek mine at 700 tons, and the average output 300 tons. The coal does not make good coke. The product for 1884 was only 30,000 tons.

Among the stone quarries and granite beds the one superintended by Mr. James C. Livingston, at Wasatch, this county, is the only one so far heard from. It gives the amount of wages paid for the year ending the 31st inst., at $29,593.99; amount of rock shipped in same period, 13,200,000 pounds; amount shipped during the ten years preceding January 1st, 1884, 132,000,000 pounds; an average of forty men are employed in and around the quarry.

From these few brief reports it will be seen by the general reader that the industries represented are not entirely dead in the mining camps and rock deposits; that a great number of men and large amounts in wages are being employed in these pursuits; yet, after all, the totals are not a circumstance to what were shown in the same directions a few years back.

IT SEEMS to us that it must be the belief of all who use them, that Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts of Vanilla, Lemon, Rose, Almond, Nectarine, etc., are the strongest, most delicate and natural flavors made. It makes all the difference in the world when our cakes, puddings, creams and pastry are flavored with Dr. Price's fresh fruit flavors.
